

2021 David C. Martin Award Recipient

The Pennsylvania Geriatrics Society – Western Division is proud to announce the 2021 recipient of the David C. Martin Award:

Ms. Kate Amodei, a fourth-year medical student attending the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

Ms. Amodei's abstract was accepted for poster presentation by the American Geriatrics Society (AGS) at their 2021 Annual Scientific meeting, scheduled May 13-15 as a virtual meeting.

This prestigious award supports student's interest in the field of geriatric medicine.

The award was named after David C. Martin, MD, who established the first geriatrics fellowship in Pittsburgh, PA. The ultimate goal is to encourage and prepare future physicians in the field of geriatric medicine.
